

1) Log in to your ADUM account

2) In your personal space, section « Propositions de thèse »
You will find the link to submit your doctoral project

3) Part « Rattachement administratif »

The screenshot shows the 'Rattachement administratif' form. A red box highlights the following fields, which are pre-filled with data from the ADUM platform:

- Ecole Doctorale: Cerveau, cognition, comportement
- Spécialité: [Empty dropdown]
- Unité de recherche: [Empty dropdown]
- Equipe: [Empty dropdown]
- Etablissement de préparation de la thèse: [Empty dropdown]
- Année universitaire de 1ère inscription en doctorat: 2024-2025
- Date de début de la thèse: 01/10/2024
- Date limite de candidature: [Empty field] à 23h59

Below the highlighted fields, there are two sets of radio buttons:

- Thèse interdisciplinaire: Oui Non
- Cotutelle: Oui Non

The data boxed above is automatically pre-completed from information on the ADUM platform.

The specialty, “Neurosciences” or “Cognitive Sciences,” is sometimes not indicated, in this case, select the specialty corresponding to your research field.

TO BE COMPLETED

Date limite de candidature : specify 01/06/2025

WARNING: Any incorrect entries may block the application process, which will run from:
2 May 2025 to 1 June 2025 inclusive.

Thèse interdisciplinaire : if your project involves scientific fields other than neuroscience or cognitive science, indicate it here.

Cotutelle : if your project is part of an international collaboration where you envisage the possibility for the student of a double diploma (co-tutelle), select YES.

4) Part « Projet Doctoral »

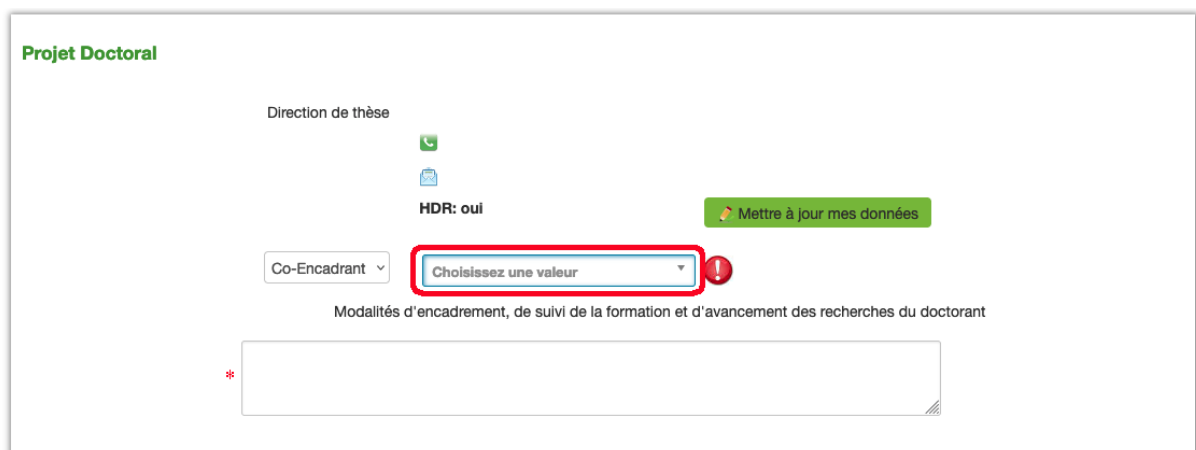

Your name and email address are automatically filled in, if the latter is no longer accurate you can modify your data.

If your thesis project will be supervised with a colleague, you must indicate their role, « co-encadrant » or « co-direction ».

Of note, co-direction involves 2 thesis directors with HDR qualifications, working in 2 different teams.

Co-encadrement is justified when another member of the team (HDR holder or not) or a member of another team not holding the HDR actively participates in the supervision of the thesis. . The co-encadrant is not a co-director, the director remains 100% responsible for the doctoral student's training.

If you are considering a « co-encadrement » or a « co-diretion » you must specify the person concerned here.

The drop-down list offers the names of researchers affiliated with the ED3C. Typing the first few letters of the name will narrow down the list available to you.

Names may be missing if your team leader has not recently updated our database.

If the name of the colleague is not in the list (colleague attached to another ED or foreign colleague), type « autre ».

if you do not have a “co-director/supervisor” or if the name of the co-director/supervisor was in the drop-down list of researchers affiliated with ED3C and listed in ADUM, you do not have to indicate anything in this frame. However, completing this song is obligatory, you must insert a “/”.

If you indicated “Autre” in the previous field you must indicate here:

- Name and surname of the colleague who wil co-encadre/dirige the project
- The laboratory
- The director of the laboratory
- The team
- The name of the team leader
